"As pretty a tale of detective work as ever was written"

NOT since 'The Hound of the Baskervilles' and 'The Leavenworth Case' has there been such an amazing and ingenious detective story as 'The Filigree Ball.' For originality of detail and cleverness of development this book is really unusual.

GORDON
KEITH

We shall publish this month a novel of over 500 pages by THOMAS NELSON PAGE. It is the first he has written since "Red Rock." It is a work of broad scope: the scene includes New York City and Virginia; the period extends from the close of the war well into our own times; the characters are many and greatly varied; the hero is Southern, the heroine a New York girl; the plot is full and interesting; the color has all Mr. Page's richness.

HARPER'S APRIL PUBLICATIONS

Pearl Island

By ANDREW CASTER

Illustrated by Florence Scovel Shinn

A story for boys, of the Robinson Crusoe kind. Two boys are wrecked on an island in the Indian Ocean. There they have experiences which tax their resources to the utmost—fights with Malay pirates, and with sharks, serpents, and tigers. They find treasures of pearls on their island, and they have one exciting adventure after another. The story is rich in capital accounts of the strange vegetable and animal life of the place, and it is altogether a book that is sure to fascinate boys.

The Kaiser's Speeches

By WOLF VON SCHIERBRAND

With Frontispiece Portrait.

This volume includes an estimate of the life and character of "Kaiser Wilhelm," and all of his important speeches, in full, particularly those in which he touches upon American affairs and topics of interest to Americans. There are also given his mottoes and the most characteristic sayings both before and after he became Emperor, thus giving an insight into the character of Germany's ruler.

Household Accounts

By CHARLES
WALDO HASKINS

Late Dean and Professor of Auditing and of the History of Accountancy in the School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance of New York University.

A hand-book of family finance. Its object is to save housekeepers time, money, and worry, by showing them the practical, easy way of keeping simple accounts. It requires no previous knowledge of bookkeeping. Its style is conversational and clear, and readily understood. Arranged with tables, etc., it makes a perfectly clear exposition of the best possible way of keeping family accounts, and will commend itself especially to women who do not like to be troubled with calculations.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 15th inst. a new book by Josiah Flynt, the author of the "World of Graft," entitled "The Rise of Ruderick Cloud," an unconventional story, from an entirely new standpoint, of the life of the dwellers of the under world.

HARPER & BROTHERS have nearly ready "Pearl Island," by Andrew Caster, a story for boys, of the Robinson Crusoe kind, with illustrations by Florence Scovel Shinn; "The Kaiser's Speeches," a collection of the more important speeches delivered by the German emperor, particularly those in which he touches upon American affairs, with an estimate of the life and character of Emperor William, by Wolf von Schierbrand; also, a handbook of family finance, by Charles Waldo Haskins, entitled "Household Accounts."

D. APPLETON & Co. have just brought out in their Novelletes de Luxe series "The Stirrup Cup," a story of Revolutionary times, by J. Aubrey Tyson. They have also just ready the third edition of Dr. L. Emmett Holt's handbook on "The Care and Feeding of Children," a standard work on its subject; and Goethe's "Hermann and Dorothea," in the Twentieth Century Text-Books series, with introduction, notes and a vocabulary, by Professor Arthur H. Palmer, of Yale. They have in preparation a "Life of Lord Beaconsfield," by Wilfrid Meynell, which will fill the gap caused by the indefinite postponement of the authoritative life which Lord Rowton, who was Lord Beaconsfield's secretary, has long been preparing; also, a new novel, by E. F. Benson, entitled "An Ark in Backwater."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on the 18th inst. "Barbara, a Woman of the West," by John H. Whitson, a distinctively American novel, dealing with life in the West, illustrated by Chase Emerson; "A Rose of Normandy," by William R. A. Wilson, an entertaining romance of France and Canada in the reign of Louis XIV., of which Sieur de la Salle and his faithful lieutenant, Henri de Tonti, are the leading characters, illustrated by Ch. Grunwald; a new edition, in one volume, of "Nuttall's Birds," revised and annotated by Montague Chamberlain; also, a new tourist's edition of "In and Around the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River of Arizona," by George Wharton James. Although Sidney McCall's "Truth Dexter" was published two years ago and has ceased to appear in the list of six best-selling novels, the first edition of the new cloth bound popular edition, containing a frontispiece by Jessie Willcox Smith, just issued by Little, Brown & Co., was 10,000.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready "The Book of Ser Marco Polo, the Venetian, Concerning the Marvels of the East," revised by Henri Cordier. Based upon the original translation of Colonel Sir Henry Yule, and embracing the results of recent discoveries of great importance, the work shows the ripest scholarship, and is equipped with full notes, appendices and bibliographies. They have also just ready the twelfth volume of the new Murray edition of Byron's works, forming the sixth volume of his poetry, edited by Ernest Hartley Coleridge. This was to have been the concluding volume, but owing to the large amount of new information the edition has expanded beyond all expectations, and although some of the volumes exceed their allotted space, it has been found necessary to add a thirteenth volume. This will include epigrams, a few stray verses, a complete bibliography, (which will be valuable to students and collectors of Byron's works,) and an exhaustive index. It will also contain some illustrations, chiefly from drawings of localities intimately connected with Byron.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The three previous volumes of this work were edited by Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton in connection with Miss Anthony, the works appearing under her name. Beginning with 1883, where v. 3 closes, the present volume ends with the century. The first twenty-two chapters contain the whole argument in favor of granting the franchise to women, as every phase of the question is touched upon and every objection considered by the ablest of speakers at the various National Suffrage Associations since 1883. Other chapters include the laws pertaining to women, their educational and industrial opportunities, the amount of suffrage they possess, the offices they may fill, legislative action on matters concerning them, and the part which the suffrage associations have had in bringing about present conditions.

[Limited ed. of 1250 copies.]
The present volume (v. 1) contains the editor's preface, an introductory life of the poet together with a literary estimate and criticism of his writings. The poems cover in addition nearly 300 pages. The publishers claim "The present edition of Freneau presents for the first time a trustworthy account of the poet's life and influence, as far as it is possible to know and estimate them, and practically a complete collection of his poems. The editor has endeavored not only to rescue every poem that is in any way significant, but to arrange these poems as far as possible in the order of their composition, or in the order in which they first appeared in print. Such an arrangement, with a poet like Freneau, is virtually an autobiography and furnishes a commentary upon the history of a highly important era. The edition contains much material which, as far as the public was concerned, had practically become extinct."

An educated, highly accomplished Indian girl, who comes on a visit to a western army post, as the niece of an army officer's wife, is the centre of both mystery and crime. Her Indian origin is unsuspected, and while aiming to fascinate the men who surround her, she is working secretly for her own people, the Sioux Indians. Chief of her victims is a brave young officer, whose career is almost ruined by her unscrupulousness. An Indian campaign, plenty of romance and adventure, all add to the interest of the story.

Space is first devoted to a consideration of the lives and labors of Peter Martyr of Anghera and Bartolomé de las Casas, the first historians of America. Following is an introduction which is a critical inquiry into the character of Columbus. This embraces pts. 1 and 2. Pt. 3, entitled "The man," is a biography of Columbus up to the time of his going to Portugal. Pt. 4, "The purpose," shows the influences and adoption of the project. Pt. 5, "The event," describes the discovery from the admiral's journal. This is the contents of v. 1. The work is rich in original documents never before translated, and in facsimiles of ancient books and reprints.

Lord Penzance does not add any new facts to the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy. He simply recapitulates briefly and plainly all the arguments and facts already given to the public. He has made a thorough study of the authorship of the Shakespeare plays and considers the inquiry whether Bacon was the author of all, or any of the works hitherto attributed to Shakespeare, "altogether unprofitable until the jury of the intelligent and educated world are satisfied that Shakespeare was not."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 11, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

POSSIBILITIES OF BOOKSELLING IN THE FUTURE.

THE editor of The World's Work, in an article on the "small circulation of new books," quoted elsewhere in this issue, opens up a question that should give food for thought to publishers and booksellers alike. The article in question does not exaggerate in saying that if a book have qualities that commend it to 100,000 persons, "these same qualities would commend it to twice or thrice or six or eight times as many—if the publishers and booksellers had machinery to find them." The difficulty is that the machinery—the bookstores—is so insufficient. It is not, as The World's Work thinks, because "a very small proportion of the population lives within reach of the bookstores," but, rather, because so few bookstores exist at all that the circulation of books is circumscribed, and will remain circumscribed until the growth of bookstores is stimulated. Why this is so we all know to our cost, and it is to remedy this very difficulty that the reform movement has been inaugurated.

One practical way to make "bookstores as numerous as grocery stores" will be to support the bookstores as the wholesale grocer and produce dealer support their machinery; or, to bring the matter within the scope of the booktrade, when the publisher will stand by the retailer of books as the subscription book publisher stands by his book agent, whom the editor of The World's Work considers to be "the best distributor of books."

Until a comparatively recent period the relations between the publisher and retailer were not calculated to increase the machinery of book distribution, or even to encourage the continued existence of that which remained. It would be unprofitable now to inquire where the fault lay, or who was most to blame; it is sufficient to know that great damage was wrought, and that bookselling became not only unremunerative but a by-word and reproach as well. Happily, our faces are now turned in another direction, and the prospects are that in time many new bookstores will be established all over the country. It will be a slow process to rehabilitate the retail booktrade, and many vexing problems will still have to be solved before the task will be accomplished. But when complete order shall be restored in the booktrade; when each branch of the business shall respect the rights of the other and protect them to the fullest extent humanly possible; and when publisher and bookseller alike shall have educated themselves to be able to see a longer distance beyond their individual noses than has been possible for some of them in the past, then shall the booktrade inherit the riches of the earth, and it may in the future become a matter of wonder if the sales of books do not reach figures compared with which the phenomenal editions of the present time shall be considered commonplace.

THE ENGLISH PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE annual meeting of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland was held March 26 at Stationers' Hall. Mr. C. J. Longman presided and about fifty firms were represented. In the report presented on behalf of the Council, regret was expressed that no action had been taken by the Government to amend the existing copyright law and reference was made to the net book agreement as follows: "The Council have much satisfaction in reporting that the price of net books has been strictly maintained, to the great advantage of the trade at large, and especially to the retail trade, who much appreciate the improvement resulting therefrom. A few cases of infraction of the agreement have occurred, but all have been dealt with successfully. A communication was received from the Library Association, requesting the Publishers' Association to discuss with a deputation from their body the possibility of allowing a discount off net books to libraries. At the request of the Council, the president replied that the benefit of the net book agreement to the retail trade has been so marked that the Association could not consider any proposal to modify it."

Reference was also made to piracy in the colonies and to the improvement that has taken place in correctly dating title-pages.

The president, Mr. Longman, in his address, touched upon the subject of serial rights as follows: "It has been not infrequently the practice, particularly with literary agents, to sell not only what are known as serial rights but what are known as second serial rights. Unless there is some limit in time put as to when these second serial rights are to run out, it may be an intolerable nuisance, and I know cases in my own business where it has become a nuisance. There are certain syndicates who buy serials for circulation in the press. They buy absolute serial rights, which is understood to mean that so long as the term of copyright exists they go on circulating the novel or any other work in the columns of newspapers, magazines, and so on. A publisher buys the copyright, but this spectre is never laid. You never know where it may turn up, and the thing gets out of control. Sometimes, as in the case which I have in my mind, the work gets published under another title or is abridged. The only reason I have in mentioning it is that I think it very desirable in the interests of publishers that they should decline to buy a novel or publish a novel in which the serial rights are sold without limit of time—that is to say, the serial rights should cease when the book is published. If there is any question of the book being circulated again, which may possibly be done occasionally, that should be a matter decided by the copyright owner, who may be the publisher or author, or both; but I think it very undesirable to either buy or publish a novel with these indefinite rights hanging over it. That is not, perhaps, a very important point, and it only refers to one section of our members."

The election of officers resulted in the reelection of C. J. Longman as president; Frederick Macmillan as vice-president and John Murray as treasurer.

ENGLISH GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO AUTHORS.

A CORRESPONDENT in the London Bookseller points out inconsistencies which appear in the grants of pensions to literary men. In 1901 Mr. Austin Dobson, who has a pension of more than £500 ($2500) a year, and probably makes more than that from his literary work, was granted an additional £250 ($1250) per annum from the civil list. The same pension was granted to Matthew Arnold twenty years ago, when he was receiving £800 ($4000) a year as an inspector of schools. Quite lately the same sum was granted to W. E. Henley, who is still quite a successful writer. On the other hand, the distinguished Scottish historian, Dr. John Mackintosh, who has devoted his life and learning to the production of important works of history, receives only £50 ($250) from the civil list. The inference from all this is, of course, that pensions are not given to encourage the production of good work by those who otherwise could not produce it. It is obvious that research work in history, philosophy or science, while by no means the least important, is the least lucrative.

THE SMALL CIRCULATION OF NEW BOOKS.

"THE sale of several hundred thousand (say, from 100,000 to 600,000) copies of several novels," says the editor of The World's Work in the issue for April, "is every day commented on as something extraordinary. If a book have qualities that commend it to 100,000 persons, these same qualities would commend it to twice or thrice or six or eight times as many—if the publishers and booksellers had machinery to find them.

"For the machinery they have is the book-store; and a very small proportion of the population lives within reach of bookstores. Comparatively few new books are sent by mail. There is apparently no practical way to make bookstores as numerous as grocery stores. Bookselling does not naturally ally itself to grocery-selling, and books alone do not yield a large enough income in many small towns and villages to reward energetic shopkeepers.

"The book agent is yet the best distributor of books. But, as a rule, he does not distribute new books. There is a single publisher in New York who sells, through agents, more sets of books every year than any publisher sells of any new novel. For the American home is yet by no means filled with books. Few, outside the cities and larger towns, have as many books as they wish or can afford. The market is practically unlimited, if it could be reached; and the art of bookselling is yet probably in its unorganized infancy.

"In proof of such an opinion, consider the circulation of the most popular magazines; for they are distributed, as books cannot be, at a cheap rate of postage. One periodical has reached the sale of more than a million copies a month. It has no quality of popularity that certain books do not or might not have. The chief difference is the advantage that the periodical has in its method of distribution.

"If the subject is rightly understood, then, the wonder is not that certain novels reach editions of 100,000 copies or 300,000 or 400,000, but that they do not reach even larger editions, as they will in the future."

TRADE IN A MUSSULMAN BOOK-SHOP.

"OH, East is East, and West is West," says Mr. Kipling. This seemingly applies with special force to business matters, in which Orientals have little to learn, if the following is a fair sample of their modus operandi:

A Mussulman is forbidden to sell a copy of the Koran, and therefore a foreigner who desires to purchase the sacred book must proceed as follows: Go into the book store, having on your face as pious an expression as possible, and to say to the proprietor:

"I shall consider myself eternally indebted to you if you will present me with a copy of the Koran."

"As I am a devout believer," the proprietor will answer, "I think it my duty to assist any unbeliever who desires to instruct himself in our law. Moreover, you seem to be a serious man, and I am convinced that it is not vain curiosity which prompts you to obtain a copy of the Koran, but a sincere desire to study our religion. Therefore I am willing to make you a present of this copy, though I value it highly, for I paid a good price for it."

You will then put the book in your pocket, and a minute or two later the proprietor will say, "I shall consider myself eternally your debtor if you will make me a present of—," naming a certain sum. If you think the price too high you may bargain with him, but you must take care not to make the slightest allusion to the copy of the Koran in your pocket, for in disposing of it the proprietor has clearly broken the law, and it would not be good policy for you to remind him of that fact.

DAVID BRINKERHOFF IVISON.

DAVID BRINKERHOFF IVISON, one of the founders of the American Book Company, and before that the senior member of the firm of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., died suddenly at his home, No. 12 West Forty-eighth Street, New York, on April 6. Mr. Ivison, who was the last surviving representative of his firm, now connected with the American Book Company, was born June 28, 1835, in Auburn, N. Y., where his father was established as publisher and bookseller. As Mr. Ivison's life after he reached his majority was closely bound up with that of the firm of which he subsequently became a member and finally the head, it may not be out of place at this time to recall several of the facts connected with that business.

Mr. Ivison's father, Henry Ivison, was born in Glasgow, in 1808, and came to this country in 1820 to serve his apprenticeship with William Williams, a well-known publisher and bookseller of Utica, N. Y. Upon attaining his majority, Henry Ivison was induced to go to Auburn, N. Y., where, with little capital except his skill as a bookbinder, he began business as a publisher under the firm name of H. Ivison & Co., (having a silent partner.) The first book bearing this imprint was the first edition of "Town's Analysis." In 1846 Henry Ivison came to New York City to join Mark H. Newman & Co., then at 199 Broadway, under the old Franklin House. When Mr. Newman died, in the winter of 1851, the business was continued by Mr. Ivison under the old firm name until January, 1854, when he associated himself with Henry F. Phinney, the son-in-law of James Fenimore Cooper, and a member of the firm of E. & H. Phinney, booksellers, of Coopers-town, N. Y. When Mr. Phinney became a partner the firm name was changed to Ivison & Phinney. Their store was located at 178 Fulton Street, at that time a fashionable business thoroughfare. At the expiration of their lease they removed to 321 Broadway. By this time the firm's list had grown to considerable size and importance, embracing school, theological and miscellaneous books. Among their school books they numbered Fasquelle's French series, Woodbury's German series, "Bradbury's School Music Books," "Gray's Botanical Series," Sanders's series of "Readers," "Spellers," and "Charts," David A. Wells's "Scientific Series," Willson's "Histories," Robinson's "Mathematical Series," and the series of "Colton's and Fitch's Geographies." Indeed, they published by far the greater number of the school books in use in the public schools fifty years ago. It was at this time, too, about 1857, that David Brinkerhoff Ivison became a clerk in his father's store. In 1859, T. S. Quackenbush, a bookseller, of Newburgh, N. Y., was admitted as partner, the firm style becoming Ivison, Phinney & Co. They were then located at 48 and 50 Walker Street.

On the 1st of January, 1864, the firm was reorganized, retaining the original partners, with the exception of Mr. Quackenbush, who withdrew, and bringing in Birdseye Blakeman, who was first a bookseller at Bridgeport, Conn., then a member of the firm of Lamport, Blakeman & Law, (which afterwards became Sheldon, Lamport & Blakeman, Sheldon & Co., Butler, Sheldon & Co.,) and later a member of the firm of [Elihu] Phinney, Blakeman & [Albert] Mason, (which through successive changes became the present firm of the Baker & Taylor Co. ;) Augustus C. Taylor, who made his first step in the booktrade as clerk with Mack, Andrus & Woodruff, (now Andrus & Church,) of Ithaca, N. Y., then the publishers of the popular Cobb series of "Readers" and "Spellers;" and David Brinkerhoff Ivison, son of the senior partner. The firm name became Ivison, Phinney, Blakeman & Co. The first act of the new firm was to reduce the length of credits to wholesale buyers. Instead of allowing the usual six months' credit on purchases the time was reduced to thirty days, a change that proved of lasting benefit to the whole booktrade, as it brought all transactions so much nearer to a cash basis, and lessened the risk of the great losses made possible by the inordinate extension of credit. On January 1, 1870, the copartnership having expired by limitation the month before, Mr. Phinney retired, his place being taken by William N. Crane, and the firm name was changed to Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co. Their headquarters at this time were at 47 and 49 Greene Street; a few years later they removed to 138 and 140 Grand Street. Mr. Henry Ivison retired in the spring of 1882, transferring his entire interest in the business to his only son, Mr. David B. Ivison. Mr. Henry Ivison died November 26, 1884.

In January, 1887, the business was again reorganized under the style of Ivison, Blakeman & Co. Mr. Taylor retired and the business was continued by his former associates, Birdseye Blakeman, and David B. Ivison and George R. Cathcart and Louis H. Blakeman, who had been admitted on the withdrawal of Mr. Crane. The firm at this time had followed the trade in its movement up town, and was located at 753 and 755 Broadway.

In May, 1890, the four great school book publishing houses of this country became incorporated as the American Book Company, including the publications of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., D. Appleton & Co., A. S. Barnes & Co., of New York, and those of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of Cincinnati. Three of these houses lost their individuality by this change, among the number being Ivison, Blakeman & Co. Mr. Birdseye Blakeman became the first president of the company, and was succeeded in 1893 by Mr. David Brinkerhoff Ivison, who held the position until 1895, when he was succeeded by Mr. Harry T. Ambrose.

Personally, the late Mr. Ivison greatly resembled his father. Among the characteristics of Mr. Ivison's business life the fine qualities of head and heart were ever conspicuous. To his partners he was a close friend and to his employees he was like the head of a family. In temperament he was equable, always the same sympathetic, warm-hearted gentleman.

Mr. Ivison was married in 1860 to Emeline M. Crane, daughter of Daniel Crane, of New York City. For a time he lived at Rutherford, N. J., where he was an elder of the Presbyterian Church. He was one of those who founded the church in 1863. To this church he made many gifts, among them that of a parsonage in 1899.

He was a member of the Aldine and Union League Clubs and the Geographical Association and of the Union Club of Rutherford.

OBITUARY NOTES.

OTTO ULBRICH, who for nearly fifty years was connected with the booktrade of Buffalo, N. Y., died at his home, 728 Ellicott Street, in that city, April 3. Mr. Ulbrich was born in Magdeburg, Prussia, August 6, 1842, and came to this country at the age of twelve. After two years' schooling in Buffalo, he went to work in 1856 for Loring Danforth, the bookseller. From 1861 to 1871 he was bookkeeper for Martin Taylor, a well-known bookseller in his day, to whose publishing business he succeeded later. In 1871 he formed a partnership with Charles Herger, of Evans & Herger, under the firm name of Herger & Ulbrich, and opened a bookstore in the old St. James block. In 1879 the firm name was changed to Ulbrich & Kingsley, when Spencer S. Kingsley took Mr. Herger's place in the partnership. Their stock was lost in the fire that destroyed the Richmond Hotel in 1887. After that Mr. Ulbrich continued the business alone, first at 395 and then at 386 Main Street. Mr. Ulbrich was an indefatigable worker, thoroughly in love with his profession, and was well liked by all who had relations with him. He was one of the oldest Free Masons of Buffalo, joining Ancient Landmarks Lodge, No. 441, at the age of twenty-three. His wife and five daughters survive him.

MRS. J. A. SADLIER, the well known author, died in Montreal, on April 5, aged seventy-three. Mrs. Sadlier was born in 1820, her maiden name being Mary Ann Madden. In 1846 she was married to James Sadlier, publisher of Catholic books in New York. Mrs. Sadlier wrote quite a number of stories and was well known through her tales of Irish life.

GEORGE PALLISER, author of a number of books on architecture and books of plans, died at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., aged fifty-four. Mr. Palliser was an Englishman by birth, but came to this country when quite young.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE DINNER AND "ROLL CALL."

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE will give its April dinner at the Aldine Association on the evening of the 15th inst., at 6:30 o'clock sharp. The feature of the evening will be a "Roll Call" of the members to discuss the question: "Which is the better salesman—one who supplies intelligently the demands of his customer, or one who creates a demand in his customer and then supplies it?" The name of each member will be called by the secretary, and those present are expected to respond. Members are requested to come prepared to answer to their names on the subject of the Roll Call, and are allowed not more than five minutes each. Messrs. Charles Battell Loomis, author of "The Four-Masted Catt Boat," etc., and T. J. Vivian, an old friend of the League, will be present and address the gathering. Unless those who expect to be present on this evening notify Mr. W. H. Parker, at E. P. Dutton & Co.'s, 31 West Twenty-third Street, New York, before April 13, no provision will be made for them at the table. As already announced, the May dinner will be a "Ladies Night," and special entertainment will be provided. Members will receive tickets for this dinner as usual, but tickets for the ladies will cost $2 each. As special arrangements must be made for this dinner members will greatly assist the committee of arrangements by notifying the chairman, Mr. Charles E. Butler, in care of Brentano's, Union Square, New York, as far in advance as possible.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ELLEN THORNEYCROFT FOWLER, who is soon to publish a new novel through the Appletons, is about to be married to Alfred Lawrence Felkin.

SIGNORA SERAO is planning to make a wide tour of the United States next year. The object of her visit is twofold: she has long desired to see America and its people and to study its conditions; she will also take this opportunity of delivering a series of lectures which will be artistic and literary in character, and which will be spoken in French or Italian, according to the requisition of her audiences.

SIMEON FORD, whose "Few Remarks" are to be published shortly by Doubleday, Page & Co., was offered $1500 the other day to talk ten minutes twice a day for a week on the stage at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre. "It is certainly alluring," said Mr. Ford, when seen by the newspaper reporters at the Grand Union Hotel. "It figures up $125 a turn, or about $12.50 a minute. The hotel business pays me pretty well, but possibly not so well as $12.50 a minute; at least, there are some minutes when I do not make as much as that. I feel immensely flattered by the offer, and it will be of financial benefit to me for this reason: If I accept it I shall have $500 more to give to the hungry and thirsty, and if I do not accept, I can certainly get a raise in salary from my partner."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

WILLIAM PRIDEAUX COURTNEY, of London, is at work upon a bibliography of bibliographies. Mr. Courtney was for over a quarter of a century connected with the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England, retiring in 1892.

M. L. GREENHALGH, 1135 Madison Avenue, New York, will publish in May, for The Diddin Club, a volume to be entitled "Three Centuries of English Booktrade Bibliography" (1595-1902). The work will be divided into two parts—historical and bibliographical. The first part will contain an essay on the beginnings of booktrade bibliography since the introduction of printing, reaching back to the work of Georg Willer, of Augsburg, in 1564, and embracing an historical account of booktrade bibliography in England from 1595 to 1902, by A. Growoll, the author of "Booktrade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," "American Book Clubs," etc. The second part will contain a bibliography of the catalogues, etc., published for the English booktrade from 1595-1902, compiled and annotated by Wilberforce Eames, of the Lenox Library of New York, whose reputation for conscientious bibliographic work is widely known. This part will contain an exact transcript, with explanatory note when needed, of the titles of the catalogues published for the use of the booksellers in England, from Maunsell's time down to the beginning of the twentieth century, excepting those of books printed in the colonies, of the antiquarian booksellers, or of books relating to law, plays, etc. The work is practically a pioneer in this field, the only other known contribution on the subject being the monograph by Professor Edward Arber, in Bibliographica, which, however, did not attempt to cover the subject of English booktrade bibliography so comprehensively or exhaustively as has been done in this work. The volume will contain 200 pages, and will have in the way of illustrations three portraits on Japan paper, and eight facsimiles of title-pages and early book advertisements, few of which have ever been reproduced. The edition is printed from type and limited in number. The price to advance subscribers will be five dollars net, (in England one guinea,) postpaid. The price may be raised after publication without further notice.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

HAMILTON MABIE contributes to the April North American Review a critical article on "The Work of Mrs. Humphry Ward."

W. J. ARKELL, for many years financial manager of Judge, W. J. Merrill, its business manager, and Grant E. Hamilton, the cartoonist, are about to establish four new comic periodicals entitled Just Fun, The Foolish Book, Fun Quarterly and Smiles. The first two named periodicals will be published monthly, but it is intended to make one of them a weekly in time for the political campaign in the fall. The offices of the new concern will be at 35 West Twenty-third Street, New York.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in preparation Otto Sverdrup's book on "The New Rand."

DREXEL BIDDLE, of Philadelphia, will publish on May 16, "Peggy O'Neal," by Alfred Henry Lewis, a story which has Andrew Jackson for its hero.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just ready a new edition of Molly Elliot Seawell's novel, "Children of Destiny," with illustrations by A. B. Wenzell.

NEITHER Harper & Brothers nor the North American Review will publish in book form Mark Twain's papers on "Christian Science." All orders for the book now on file will be cancelled.

THE ABBEY PRESS, New York City, will shortly publish a book entitled "Thompson, the Detective," by Junius L. Hempstead, of Dubuque, Iowa, son of the late Governor Hempstead.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., will publish next month "The Man in the Camlet Coat," a story of mystery something like "The Man Without a Country." The book is illustrated by F. Gilbert Edge.

LEE & SHEPARD have just ready Frederick C. Chamberlin's long-delayed book, "The Blow from Behind, a Defense of the Flag in the Philippines," which will be found peppy reading by the Boston anti-imperialists.

LANGWORTHY & SWIFT, of the Blue Sky Press, 4732 Kenwood Avenue, Chicago, have in press an illustrated reprint of "The Fall of the House of Usher," by Edgar Allan Poe; also, "Alice Jocelyn, Her Letters," by C. Emma Cheney.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY have in preparation a "ranch story by a real ranch girl," Miss Frances Parker, the daughter of a North Dakotan ranchman, and the niece of a South Dakotan Indian agent. The title is not selected.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. announce that the first edition of 10,000 copies of "The Ward of King Canute" was exhausted before publication, and that another edition of the same number of copies has been put to press and will be ready in time to reach dealers on the day of publication—April 22.

J. F. TAYLOR & COMPANY have just brought out a new love story by Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, entitled "Thyra Varrick." The scene of the story is laid in Scotland in the time of Prince "Charlie." The book has a dozen spirited illustrations drawn by Lee Woodward Zeigler.

THE MARYLAND SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND, at Baltimore, with the permission of Funk & Wagnalls Company, have published the "Standard Intermediate School Dictionary" in "point-print." The work is in eighteen large volumes, each the size of one of the two-volume edition of the unabridged "Standard Dictionary."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready a work entitled "Ethics of the Body," by the Rev. Dr. Boardman, an answer, from the viewpoint of the Christian and scientist, to the question as to the moral responsibilities of the body. They have also just published "Success in Practice," by Dr. C. N. Johnson, editor of the Dental Review.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE, 307 Fifth Avenue, New York, will publish in connection with the Emerson centennial celebration, a revised and enlarged edition of Albee's "Remembrances of Emerson." The new edition will have a paper label, a frontispiece portrait of Emerson, and a special new preface, including a reference to the centennial anniversary.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish shortly under R. H. Russell's imprint "The Black Lion Inn," a new book by Alfred Henry Lewis, the author of the "Wolfville Stories," who has been frequently spoken of as the literary descendant of Bret Harte; also, "Marjorie," a new novel by Justin Huntly McCarthy, author of "If I Were King," with illustrations by C. Allan Gilbert.

THE sale of Neltje Blanchan's nature books, "Nature's Garden," "Bird Neighbors," "Game Birds," and "How to Attract the Birds," is reported by Doubleday, Page & Co. to have amounted to over 100,000 copies. The author's latest book, "How to Attract the Birds," contains 100 suggestions on how to be friends with the birds and how to become acquainted with their "personalities."

ISBISTER & Co. will publish a "Life of Spurgeon," by Charles Ray, which will be the first biography of the great preacher published since his death, although there has been "an autobiography," compiled from notes and diaries by Mrs. Spurgeon and Spurgeon's private secretary. Mr. Ray's book will contain a mass of hitherto unpublished information and many new pictures from photographs.

AN event in the book world this week was the dispersal through the American Art Association, in New York, of the collection of books belonging to the late Mr. Peter Marié. The total realized was $38,828. A Napoleon album brought $1,775, and an extended edition of Walton and Cotton's Angler, London, 1836, brought $1,200. Most of the books were remarkable for their bindings rather than for their editions.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY have just published a work by Dr. A. S. Murray, keeper of Greek and Roman antiquities in the British Museum, on "The Sculptures of the Parthenon." With the help of Carrey's drawings it has been found practicable to reproduce the frieze as we know it in one long sheet. The reproduction is in photogravure and shows the details in a remarkably clear manner. The volume is also fully illustrated through the text.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a number of hitherto unpublished letters by Margaret Fuller written when the author was a member of Horace Greeley's household; also, "The Life and Times of Thomas Jefferson," by Thomas E. Watson, author of a "History of France," who views Jefferson as the founder of the Democratic party, and will write his book on original lines. They will publish early in the fall a translation by J.

L. Garner, the official translator of the Bureau of the Mint at Washington, D. C., of Gregorovius's study of Lucretia Borgia.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have just ready a work on "Reciprocity," by Professor J. Laurence Laughlin of the Chicago University and Professor H. Parker Willis of Washington and Lee University, which contains besides an exposition of the subject of reciprocity, the text of the existing reciprocity treaties, statistics and a bibliography listing all the books, articles and Government documents on the subject. They have also just brought out a volume on "Social Ethics," an introduction to the nature and ethics of the State, by Professor James Melville Coleman of Geneva College.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co., have in preparation besides Blowitz's memoirs, noted by us last week, Kipling's new volume of poems, Ernest Thompson Seton's first long story for boys, entitled "Two Little Savages; a remarkable "Color Key to North American Birds," by Frank M. Chapman, with 700 illustrations, to make the identification of birds easy; a new book by Booker T. Washington; also, the first volume of the "Elizabethan Shakspeare," which they consider the most important work they have ever undertaken. They will publish early next month Simeon Ford's book, "Some Remarks."

JOHN LANE will publish on the 16th inst., in two volumes, "New Letters and Memorials of Jane Welsh Carlyle," a collection of hitherto unpublished letters, with notes by Thomas Carlyle, and his nephew, Alexander Carlyle, and an introduction by Sir James Crichton Browne, illustrated with photogravures and lithographs by T. R. Wav. from hitherto unreproduced originals. Mrs. Carlyle's letters are introduced by her husband's own characteristic and tender comments, and entirely subvert Mr. Froude's theories of domestic unhappiness. This collection will be followed in the fall by "New Letters and Memorials of Thomas Carlyle."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will shortly publish a work entitled "Why the Mind Has a Body," by C. A. Strong, a philosophical essay on the relation of the mind to the body, the appearance of which is most timely, as it is based on the current controversy between the commonsense school of theorists, who maintain that the mind acts on the body, and the "interactionists" or "parallelists," who declare that the varying conditions of consciousness are only the natural sequences to changes in the brain. They have in preparation another story by Miss Gwendolen Overton, the author of "The Heritage of Unrest," a novel that won for its author immediate recognition as a writer of unusual strength. The new story will be entitled "The Birth-right."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready the first volume of a sumptuous work on "Christopher Columbus: his Life, his Work, his Remains, as revealed by original printed and manuscript records, together with an Essay on Peter Martyr of Anghera and Bartolomé de las Casas, the First Historians of America," by John Boyd Thacher, author of "The Cabotian Discovery," etc. The object of the author, as indicated in the title, is to give the readers of to-day, as far as practicable in exact facsimile, such published knowledge of the discoverer and the discovery as were available to a reader at the beginning of the sixteenth century, and, furthermore, such knowledge concerning the discovery as has come to the world since that time. The work will be completed in three folio volumes, very fully illustrated with facsimiles, portraits and views, very few of which have ever been published before. They have also just published a collection of verse by Howard Beck Reed, entitled "Notes from Nature's Lyre."

THE SMART SET PUBLISHING COMPANY, 452 Fifth Avenue, New York, is about to branch out in the publishing business, making a specialty of high-class copyright books, attractively illustrated, and bound in cloth. They will bring out on the 15th inst., "Perkins the Faker," a travesty on reincarnation, by Edward Van Zile, with photogravure illustrations by Hy. Meyer. This will be followed on the 22d inst., by a story entitled "Miss Sylvester's Marriage," by Cecil Charles, with illustrations in photogravure by W. Sherman Potts. In May they will publish "The Puritan Witch," a romantic love story of the days of Puritan New England, with illustrations by P. R. Andibert; "The Fighting Chance," by Gertrude Lynch, a story of modern times, dealing with prominent public characters in Washington, with illustrations by Bayard Jones; also, "The Vulgarians," by Edgar Fawcett, describing the adventures of a newly-rich trio from the West who gained admission to New York society, with illustrations by Archie Gunn.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish next month "Evolution of the Japanese, Social and Psychic," by Sidney L. Gulick, a book that will be a distinct addition to sociological literature by reason of the author's unusual opportunities for original investigation; "The Workingman and Social Problems," by Charles Stelzle, who is engaged in city mission and settlement work in Missouri, and who speaks from experience as well as from observation and inquiry; also, a volume of "Talks to Boys and Girls," by the Rev. Sidney Strong, a successful pastor with children. Those who are reading the dispatches in the daily papers concerning the disturbances in Bulgaria and Macedonia and other parts of Turkey, will find great interest in reading "The Turk and His Lost Provinces," which is announced this week by the Fleming H. Revell Company. The author is William E. Curtis, who spent several months in the Balkan provinces last year in the interest of the Chicago Record-Herald and whose letters were widely copied at the time.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will bring out on the 25th inst. Mary King Waddington's most interesting "Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," of which a small portion only has been published serially. Mme. Waddington is the daughter of the late Charles King, president of Columbia College. M. Waddington, whom she married in 1874, was the Ambassador Extraordinary representing France at the coronation of the Czar, and the French Ambassador to England from 1883 to 1893. Mme. Waddington's letters give a remarkably interesting series of portraits and pen pictures of the personages and incidents of her official life during this period. Unconventional, intimate, personal, graphic and witty, these letters have an importance and a distinction which are unique in autobiographical literature. Mr. Thomas Nelson Page's new novel, "Gordon Keith," will be brought out next month. They have just imported two books of importance—"The Persian Problem," by H. J. Whigham, who discusses the game played by England, Russia, and, in a lesser part, Germany, to control Persia and the Persian Gulf; also, the "Autobiography and Letters of Sir A. Henry Layard," the discoverer and author of "Nineveh and its Remains," etc., edited by the Hon. William Napier Bruce.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BERLIN, N. H.—Stuart & Cummings have opened a bookstore next to the post-office.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Des Forges & Co. one of the oldest established bookselling concerns in the West, write us that they are going out of business on May 1, "with a clean record of always paying 100 cents on the dollar and no fire." We shall part from this concern with considerable regret.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line, for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

DARREL

OF THE BLESSED ISLES

Scholar, Wit, Philosopher, and Tinker of Clocks * A Great Tale of Character and Mystery
By IRVING BACHELLER, Author of "Eben Holden" and "D'rri and I"

The New York Herald says of the clock
tinker:

"A character as new,
strong, and lovable as Eben Holden.

"It is another tale of the North Country, full of the odor of wood and field.

"There are many good people in the book besides Darrel, among them a fine
country schoolmaster
and a rustic horseman, irresistibly droll and comic.

"There is much in it to remind one of the idyllic chapters in 'Eben Holden.'

"This new book has a fascinating plot and a motive strong and elemental.

"Its mystery is developed with rare ingenuity.

"It is a cheering and optimistic tale, and begets a love for high things.

"The book has in it some helpful lessons.

"It is a book for weary men and women.

"It takes one to the restful theatre of the wild woods.

"It aims at something much higher than mere amuse-

☞ Such notices as these from such sources mean something.

"We are only too well satisfied to go on with such delightful people, and especially through such delightful scenes, on any terms. . . . This is old ground, but the unusual method of locomotion and a fresh touch give it a new and living interest. . . . A light, graceful, accurate mention devoted to some places and very satisfactory fulness to others. . . . It should be a good practical guide, too, to those about to go over the same course, while its charming descriptions of travel afford an ample new fund of pleasure, tinged with envy here and there, to the stay-at-homes."—Nation.

"A pleasant and felicitous romance."—N. Y. Sun.

"The plot is wholly new, and decidedly entertaining."—Springfield Republican.

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF EDGAR ALLAN POE

By JAMES A. HARRISON, Professor in the University of Virginia.

This publication is an event of more than usual importance, since it is the first which presents, together, an accurate biography and a collection of letters of one of America's greatest and most interesting literary figures. The letters give many new glimpses of Poe and his friends—among them Irving, Willis, Simms, Longfellow, Hawthorne and Lowell.

In two volumes, with 45 illustrations, 12mo, gilt top, cloth, $2.50 net; half calf, $5.00 net. Postage 25 cents.

The Rise of Ruderick Clowd

A Straightforward Story

BY

A Straightforward Writer

JOSIAH FLYNT

Author of the "World of Graft," "Tramping with Tramps."

Published April 15th

This Book will Have a Tremendous Sale WHY?

Because, it is an unconventional story from an entirely new standpoint; life, from the point of view of the denizens of the under world.

Because, it has literary merit of the highest quality, attracts the reader from the first, and holds him to the last.

Because, the author knows his chosen field better than any writer in the world.

"Not a Weak Spot in It"

What the NEW YORK TIMES says:

"We are convinced from a hasty reading of the advance sheets that 'The Rise of Ruderick Clowd' will make a profound sensation. It has a strong purpose without any moralizing or mawkish sentiment."

State Publications

A Provisional List of the Official Publications of the Several States of the United States from their Organization

PART I: NEW ENGLAND STATES—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut

Includes preface giving a sketch of State Bibliography.

PART II: NORTH CENTRAL STATES—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin

The complete work, exceeding 500 pages, will be furnished at $5. Subscriptions will be received only for the whole work.

 But 500 copies have been printed and there are no plates.

The attention of State libraries, of the central public libraries, and of foreign libraries is especially called to this publication, but it is also important to that larger number of libraries which cannot undertake to collect the State publications even of their own State, and yet should be able to inform students and inquirers as to what is to be found in the publications of their own State and of other States. What New York and Massachusetts are doing in forestry, for instance, is of importance in all States and to foreign students of the subject.

Publications of Societies

A Provisional List of the Publications of American Scientific, Literary, and Other Societies from their Organization

This volume, of 186 pages, schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. It will be found of use in all libraries—in large libraries as a check-list, in small libraries as a bibliographical key to a most important field of special literature.

MESSRS. A. C. McCLURG & CO. are pleased to announce that the first edition of 10,000 copies of THE WARD OF KING CANUTE has been taken up by advance orders received to April 1, and that a second edition of 10,000 copies has been put to press and will be ready in time to reach dealers on day of publication, April 22.

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.

A Key to Books in Print

In the 1902 PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

Index Volume

the books of the 246 publishers who contributed the lists bound up in alphabetical order in the Catalogues volume, are indexed, by author, title and subject catchword, furnishing, by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print on July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August. The Index volume and the Catalogues volume of

will be found the most useful, as well as the least expensive, single book trade reference work yet issued, especially for the booksellers and small libraries who cannot afford to buy many trade tools. Price, $2 for the Catalogues volume and $5 for the Index volume, separate, or $7 together, absolutely net.

The Catalogues volume is a huge octavo, probably the largest volume now issued, reaching, with 1902, 5700 pages, being 8¼ inches in thickness and weighing 20 pounds. Directions for enclosure delivery in New York should accompany the order, unless shipment is to be by express at the charge of the subscriber.

The Index volume, an octavo of 1114 pages, will be sent on approval to any bookseller or library enclosing 10 cents for partial postage. Of the Catalogues volume less than 300 remain unsubscribed, and the edition of the Index volume is also limited. Address,
